The time has come for us, the Class of 1937, to bid farewell to Latin. We bid our farewell with regret, realizing that we are leaving the place which has provided us with such a valuable background. At Latin, we have enjoyed surroundings which have given us security, friendship, camaraderie, and inspiration. Although we shall go on to other schools and to other achievements, we shall always cherish the memory of our days here, because we feel, more strongly than ever now that we are about to graduate, that they represent something which we shall never find again.

In this volume, our last tribute to the School, our object has been to give a clear, truthful account of the life which centers around Latin. We trust that you will find as much pleasure in reading the finished product as we have found in producing it.

Percy L. Whiting

D E D I C A T I O N

To Percy L. Whiting, whose wit, understanding, and kindly philosophy have endeared him to students and teachers alike; whose untiring efforts to aid and instruct young manhood have been invaluable; and whose thirty-two years of conscientious service stand out as an example of moral and intellectual excellence, we respectfully dedicate this volume.

Although the four views pictured on this page could never hope to give a FULL account of the life at Latin, they do, we feel, portray more adequately than words certain parts of this life. And though these scenes may seem trite and meaningless to some, they will never seem so to the heart of a Latinite, because for him they bring back nostalgic memories of days spent here.

These snapshots represent far better than words the spirit and life of the School.

This splendid edition of The Chicago Latin School SIGILLUM merits the commendation of our student body. It is the result of hard work on the part of the Sigillum Board. It is in keeping with the achievements of the graduating class. With continuance of this splendid spirit, the members of our graduating class will aspire to greater accomplishments. We wish you the best of success in your new undertaking.

Since this has been our first year in the Upper School, we have taken an added interest in our work, and the Class, on the whole, has increased its scholastic average quite satisfactorily. Two or three boys "made" the Honor Roll each month, and several more received Improvement Cards. We hope to keep up this record next year when we enter the High School.

Many of the boys have followed old hobbies this year and some have started new ones. Those hobbies receiving the most patronage were: stamp-collecting, Scouting, match-box saving, and amateur photography.

Now let's discuss some of the fellows. Our best student is the brother of the "top man" last year. You guessed it! Bobby Joiner. John Marshall, Peter Richardson, Morris Vehon, and Conrad Petersen gave him a close fight for scholastic honors. Our best athletes are Chuck McCain, Clifford Barborka, Morrie Vehon, and Bill White. Dick Crane did a fine job as Form One's class reporter on the News. Space forbids us to mention all of the boys, but they were all active in one way or another during the year 1936-37.

SECOND FORM

Radcliff Janas	President
John Kramer	Vice-President
Munro Steel	Secretary
John Clay	Treasurer

In our second year in the Upper School, we feel the Class has made a fine record for itself in three phases of school life: studies, activities, and athletics. In the first phase, Joiner repeated his success of last year in copping the best pupil prize, with Steel and Hirschfield close behind; in sports, Berkey, the Janas brothers, Rad and Sig, and Steel were the outstanding performers; in the third group no individuals can be singled out, since the whole Class took part in the various extra-curricular activities.

Not only were the members of the Class active in School, but also outside. Such entertainments as ice-skating at the Arena, and attending the many holiday dances proved a popular form of diversion for several boys in Form II.

Next year, of course, the usual number of boys will drop out to attend Eastern prep schools, but their places will be taken by newcomers. We who are to stay hope to carry on, with the poise, knowledge and experience which we have gained this year, to bigger and better things.

Back Row—BEACOM, HAIGHT, ZIMMERMAN, OSBORNE, W. KELLER.
Front Row—FAUROT, J. BERKEY, GRIMM, SULLIVAN.

THIRD FORM

Charles Zimmerman	President
Nathan Osborne	Vice-President
Robert Faurot	Secretary
Anson Cameron	Treasurer

Though Form III doesn't boast the most brilliant set of scholars in the School, it does have a fine spirit of co-operation and participation in the various sports and activities. We feel that a particularly fine example of this spirit was the manner in which the Basketball Dance was conducted. The committee, composed of John Berkey, Chairman, Charlie Zimmerman, Dick Grimm, and "Bo" Sullivan, put on what was unanimously termed one of the best dances ever held at Latin. They worked hard to provide good music, good refreshments, and good decorations, and they surely succeeded.

Form III was represented in the Glee Club performance by Jimmy Hays, whose portrayal of one of the leading roles was excellent, and Al Beacom, stage manager for the production.

In sports this year, we showed up to best advantage in the High School Basketball Tournament. All of the Class members who were in the tourney gave good accounts of themselves, some even topping the performances of older boys.

Though some of the fellows may drop out next year, the great majority of the Class intends to stay at Latin and graduate. So, with the always present new pupils, Form III should develop into a large Form IV next year.

FOURTH FORM

Ashton Graham	.	.	President
James McCarty	.	.	Vice-President
Perry Kline	.	.	Secretary
Brent Starck	.	.	Treasurer

Although our Form was the smallest in the High School this year, we feel that we have made an enviable record for ourselves, in sports and activities as well as in studies. The "bright boys" in the Class were Petersen, Hirschfield, Kiefer, and Kline. These four made the Honor Roll almost every month, and kept their averages well over those of the other fellows. Though we have no one who went out for all three major sports, there are several fellows who participated in two of them. Among these are "Ashie" Graham, Frank Crowe, George Kiefer, and Bob Postell, all of whom played on the football and basketball squads. The lights received a severe blow to their hopes for an undefeated season when Bob Postell, our representative on the Student Council, contracted a severe mastoid infection, and was forced to remain out of school for several weeks. Bob recovered, however, in plenty of time to complete his school work for the year. Among those active in extra-curricular work, Graham, who had one of the leading roles in the Glee Club's production of "Romeo and Juliet," Crowe, who assisted in the writing of the Here and There column in the News, and Petersen, Kiefer, Seckel, Kline, and Hirschfield, all of whom took Typing, were the busiest.

Reynolds Blossom Robert Levine
 Harry Boush W.B. Denniston John Ely

Back Row—BENNAN, GARDNER, HOWELL, BLOSSOM, MURPHY, J. ELY.
 Front Row—LEVINE, SEIPP, DENNISTON, GREENEBAUM, FRANK, EELLS.

FIFTH FORM

Bill Howell
 William Howell . . . President
 Harry Hurd . . . Vice-President
 Robert Crane . . . Secretary
 Reynolds Blossom . . . Treasurer

Form V was represented in all fields of endeavor this past year. Entering whole-heartedly into every activity, the Class won quite a few places of honor for itself. It might be well here to mention several names, and "toss a few orchids."

The position of Class Honor Student was held throughout the year by Cushing Eells. Cushing was never in danger of too-hot competition, and was able to participate as a member of the lightweight basketball team. The position of Class Athlete is rather closely contested between Howell and Blossom, with Bennan and Gardner the "dark horses." But in the long run, we venture our opinion that Blossom should have the edge. The literary talent of the Class is centered more or less in three boys: Donald Murphy, Bob Seipp, and Bill Greenebaum. Murphy has contributed much good work to the Folio, as has Seipp, who, next year, will step from a position on the Board to the editor's post. Greenebaum's excellent work on the News has earned for him the editorship of that paper next year. It would be hard to single out any one boy for his participation in Activities, because practically every one in the Class entered into some extra-curricular pastime. However, Ely, Levine, Greenebaum, Frank, Seipp, Eells, and Murphy might be mentioned as those taking the most active parts in the various student organizations.

JOHN WILSON BURTON

Though Jack didn't join us until last fall, he has done several noteworthy things, among which are the winning of letters on both the football and basketball teams, and the earning of a place in the Glee Club. In addition, Jack is a capable wrestler. He has always lived in or around Chicago, but has attended schools in the East for the last few years, where he plans to go to college this fall. Jack confesses with some defiance that he thinks the guitar is about tops in musical instruments, and tries to prove it by playing it. We've never had the pleasure of hearing him, but it is an occasion which we look forward to with no little anticipation. Another of his many diversified talents is his ability to grow the best beard in the class in the least time! Jack plans to enter Brown this fall.

WILLIAM HAUGH CALLENDER

One of the finest fellows in the Senior Class may be found in the person of Bill Callender. Though he has not taken part actively in the three major sports, he has consistently kept up his participation in the minor sports such as badminton, squash, tennis, and golf. Throughout his stay at Latin, he has maintained an outstanding scholastic record; one of his most notable achievements came in 1936 when he was presented with the Harvard Club Award, which is given for outstanding ability and character. In the school literary field, Bill's ability has brought him the editorship of the News, co-editorship of the Sigillum, and a position on the Folio Board. At Williams, where he plans to enter this fall, Bill will, we feel sure, continue to make a name for himself.

As a grand good guy!

WILLIAM JAMES CARNEY, II

Bill might well be called the strong, silent man of Form VI. He is seldom heard to make an ambiguous remark, for he is a strict adherent to the policy of saying much in few words. Following this same general rule in his school work, Bill has consistently pulled down better-than-average marks throughout his rather long stay at Latin. In the sports line, "W. J." is a real "man's man." He is an accomplished boxer, a first-rate polo player, and plays a capable game of baseball. But if you were to ask Bill about his ability in these three sports, the chances are that you wouldn't have a very high opinion of his talents, because his modesty is so great that seldom, if ever, is the word "I" heard from his lips. Bill is sure to make good at Princeton, where he plans to enter this fall, as he has always done at Latin.

WILLIAM ABEL CAUDILL, II

Although he didn't enter Latin until last Fall, Bill has already assumed the position of the class "literary dictator," so to speak. He has shown an exceptional talent in writing poetry, and the Folio has profited greatly by his prolific output of good verse and equally good prose. As his style is original and imaginative, he gives his writing freshness and novelty. Bill is from the "sunny South," and possesses the customary "Southern accent." His favorite sports are tennis, riding, and swimming, and he is good at all of these sports, especially swimming. Indeed, he is so good at the latter that practically the entire Upper School was heartily appreciative of a little exhibition he gave this winter, under the most trying circumstances! True to his literary leanings, Bill plans to take up a course in journalism at the University of Chicago this fall.

HAROLD EDWARD DATO

"Dates" leaves behind him a record which will not be soon forgotten at Latin. He has had an exceptionally brilliant scholastic average throughout his thirteen years at Latin, he has been a valuable addition to the football and basketball squads, and he has taken part in the various activities. He is, without a doubt, the hardest worker in the class, yet he has found time to sing in the Glee Club, play in the school orchestra, and hold positions on each of Latin's three literary publications. "Dates" has become a familiar figure tearing into a husky guard twice his size on the football field, or wrestling for the ball on the basketball floor. Little need be said about his scholastic ability, for it is well-known throughout school. Suffice it to say that he has been at the head of his class practically every year of his school career.

LAURENCE DRIGGS ELY, JR.

Although he didn't join us until the mid-year point in '36, Larry has quickly become an important member of the class. Graced with a ready smile and a helpful disposition, he has entered into practically every activity and sport. His record covers letters won in two of the three major sports, the captaincy of the golf team, positions on the Glee Club and in the orchestra, and a post on the Student Council. Of all of these achievements, perhaps the most noteworthy, in regard to the school's future, was his captaincy of the golf team, for in this capacity he did more than any other boy to give Latin a competing team, to make it a winning combination, and, in his senior year, to organize a private school golf league. In his school work, Larry has always been conscientious and has hence received marks that were above the average.

CHARLES EDWARD FORD, II

Charlie has always been a class leader. He has been instrumental in furthering Student Government at Latin, climaxing two years of service on the Student Council by being appointed Senior Prefect, the highest position a student may hold at Latin. But more than that, Charlie's a grand fellow, liked by every one. His enthusiasm and good nature have done much to make him the extremely popular fellow he is. "Chuck" is an excellent student, seeming to get his work with little or no drudgery, for he has always believed in the saying that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and has acted accordingly by taking an important part in the life which centers around Latin. We feel sure that Charlie will continue his fine work at Yale, where he plans to enter this fall.

JOHN SEXTON GREEN

Jack is a happy-go-lucky fellow with a grand sense of humor and a large capacity for getting fun out of life. He is generous to a fault, and it is a common sight to watch him flash by behind the wheel of his Ford V-8, giving some one a "lift." But he also puts in a good deal of time on his school work for he has mapped out an industrious college course for himself. He plans to attend Williams first, and then some other college which he has not yet chosen, but which will probably be one of the larger technical schools, in preparation for a career as an electrical engineer. Jack's sporting interests center largely on baseball, for he is a better-than-average pitcher and a good infielder in this sport. He has another hobby in an entirely different field—photography. His work along this line has proved invaluable to the News and Sigillum alike, as may be seen by the many fine shots, taken by him, which are in this book.

HARRY DWIGHT HIGHTOWER

It is not often that one finds a good athlete, a responsible student, and a "good guy" all combined in the person of one boy. It may be safely said, however, that Dwight is such a boy. Besides having won letters in each of the three major sports, he has held positions on the News Board, the Folio Board, and the Student Council. And to climax these successes, he was appointed President of the Senior Class, which shows perhaps better than words his "ace-high" standing with his class-mates. "Harry" has become famous for his savoir faire and nonchalance, especially on the fields of sport. His actions are so easy and graceful they give the impression that what he is attempting to do is not difficult in the least.

"Whatever you do, do it well" has always been Holly's motto, and he has lived up to this creed by giving his utmost to every project which he has undertaken. This is especially true of the fine job he has done this year as editor of the Folio. He has always taken a genuine interest in sports, competing regularly in basketball and baseball, and following the minor sports such as badminton, squash, tennis, and golf. Yet despite these many outside activities, he has always kept his marks well above the average. All of these achievements contribute to Holly's popularity among his schoolmates, who like him for his enthusiasm, his affability, and his ever-present sense of humor. Holly's college plans center around Northwestern, which he will first enter as a regular student, then later in preparation for a medical career.

JOHN READ KELLER

John's happy, fun-loving nature has won for him a great deal of popularity during his stay at Latin. He is never depressed, and this everlastingly cheerful spirit has made him an indispensable part of school life. Scholastically, "J. Q." has always been among the upper half of the class, for his grades seldom drop below a "B" average. Johnny is also a capable athlete, for he has held down a post on the varsity football squad for three years, and has also taken active interests in the other sports at Latin. This participation in athletics has made him a valuable member of the News sporting staff, and a conscientious manager of the basketball team. John plans to enter the University of Chicago this fall, where he will take a Liberal Arts course.

LEON TERRELL KULIKOWSKI

It seems that every Senior Class at Latin must have at least one boy about whom there is a sort of vague mystery. This year's class is no exception to the rule as it has an excellent candidate for the title of "Mystery Man" in the presence of Leon Kulikowski. But though Leon's activities outside of life may be somewhat conjectural, he himself is by no means taciturn or gloomy. On the contrary, he has enlivened many a class discussion with his humor and utter frankness; indeed, he often makes a change of subject in class very judicious! Leon has continually received better-than-average marks, especially in subjects which have technical sides, such as science and math. His favorite sports are swimming and squash, and he is quite adept at both.

VICTOR LESTER LEVY

Although Vic didn't join us till after the Christmas holidays last year, he has quickly become a popular member of the class, or should we say a popular diversion of the class! His flair for the ridiculous has kept all around him in a continual state of apoplectic laughter, and he can always be counted on to do the totally unexpected. He is, however, more than a clown, for he has held down positions on each of Latin's three varsity squads. He has often lessened the tension of many a tight spot, whether it be on the football field, the basketball floor, or the baseball diamond, with some wholly inane remark, causing the spectators as well as his team-mates to burst into laughter. Vic intends to go to Northwestern this fall, and later to obtain a position in his father's linen business.

Bob joined us this year after spending some time in a school in Arizona, called the Southern Arizona School. Bob, however, is really a Chicago boy, as he has spent a great part of his life in or around Kenilworth. "Mac's" a thoroughly likable fellow with a grand sense of humor and an ability to laugh at himself. He gets a great deal of enjoyment from life, and imparts a great deal to those near him. With this cheery disposition, he has been able to enter into all phases of school life very quickly. His sporting interests are really those of a true Westerner, because he excels at tennis and horseback riding. Bob is liked by every one, and we are happy to have him with us as a member of Form VI.

"Sonny," with Harold Dato, entered Latin in Kindergarten, and has never missed a year since then. During these twelve long years, he has distinguished himself in practically all of the activities and extra-curricular courses. As the piano-player in the school orchestra, his swell tunes did much to make that organization one of the most popular ever formed at Latin, and in a rather similar field, the Glee Club, he also did outstanding work. His flair for the dramatic held him in good stead in the Dramatic Club; where he put forth some of his best efforts. Though Sonny has never competed in the major sports, he is quite an adept tennis player, and, from what we hear from Lake Forest, a good golfer. But of all of his gifts, perhaps Sonny's greatest is his personality—a personality that attracts friends as easily as fly-paper attracts flies.

Wally, or "Major" as he is often called because of his great love of England and his devotion to all things English, has always lent a certain polish to the class. His mature manners and speech have made him a really essential part of Form VI throughout his long stay at Latin, and he will be sorely missed by the whole school. Wally has played on the football squad for two years, and has taken an active interest in nearly all of the other sports at Latin. He has never been lazy, as is attested to by the fact that he has participated in the activities of the Glee Club, the Dramatic Club, and the Debating Club. In the course of these many sports and activities, the "Major" has won as many friends as any boy in the Senior Class.

Jack is the business man of Form VI. Having always had an active interest in the various school publications, he culminated his years of service on the News and the Folio by handling the business ends of both of these papers in his senior year, besides managing the finances for the Sigillum. Not content with these duties, Jack has contributed materially to the success of the Glee Club and the Dramatic Club. Jack has never gone out for the major sports, but has always followed the minor ones with much interest. He is a swell squash player, having been runner-up for the title of champion for the last three years. Yet Jack's marks have not suffered from these extra-curricular activities, as he has been able to maintain a very satisfactory scholastic standing.

GUY STILLMAN

Guy belongs to that type of boy who becomes an essential part of a class, and whose absence is noticed in some vague, undefinable way; he just seems to "belong," with his "Heinie" haircut, his rasping laugh, and his indefatigable supply of practical jokes. Guy lives in Barrington, and the distance of his home from school has prevented him from taking as active a part in school activities as he would have liked, but this has not hindered him one bit in making many friends among students and teachers alike. Guy has always been interested in science and mathematics, and has consequently maintained high grades in these subjects. His main interest outside of school is model railroading, on which he is quite an authority.

ROBERT TINDALL TATE, JR.

Bob is one of the most valuable members of the Class of '37 in that he is a leader in all phases of school life. Bob's prowess as an athlete is well attested to by the fact that he has been a consistent letter winner in both football and basketball, and has competed in several of the minor sports. From a scholastic viewpoint, he has had one of the best records in school, always maintaining a position among the upper quarter of the class. Bob's record in the third phase of school life, activities, has been equally impressive. Along this line, he has taken part in such widely different activities as the Glee Club, the Dramatic Club, the Dance Committee, the News Board, and the Athletic Association.

EARL FREDERICK ZEIGLER

Earl, or "Duke" as he is more commonly known, has left behind him a record in athletics at Latin which has seldom been equalled. He has won letters in each of the three major sports, football, basketball, and baseball for three consecutive years. "Duke" always seemed to be the balance wheel of any team he was on, urging his team-mates to bigger and better things by his own grit and skill. In addition to the star roles he has played in the major sports, he has captured most of the tournaments in the minor sports. One of the most popular fellows in school, his popularity assumed new heights when he was elected vice-president of his class in his senior year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

As the year draws to a close, another Student Council prepares to close its books, and pass into memory. The Council of 1936-37 leaves behind a record of achievements and improvements in student self-government which equals that of many past Councils, and sets an example for future ruling bodies. Adhering to the principle of its immediate predecessor that democratic government in a school should be one of leadership and logic rather than one of fear and punishment, this year's Council has tried to maintain discipline, to arbitrate fairly in all matters within its jurisdiction, and to instill respect in the students for the leaders they chose to represent them. The Council feels that it has been successful in these attempts.

Several innovations were introduced this year in student government at Latin, of which the most important were the creation of a Junior Council, and the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution. This amendment provides that hereafter a vote shall be taken by the members of the Council at the end of each school year to determine whether or not the Sophomore member shall retain his position, or whether he shall have to be elected again by his class-mates the following year. The purpose of this amendment was to lessen the possibility of the loss of the Sophomore's training and experience by his non-re-election. The Junior Council, composed of representatives from Classes Three, Four, Five, and Six, was created to give the younger students first-hand experience in student government, and to acquaint them with its workings and problems.

In closing, we wish to extend our congratulations to Charles Ford, Senior Prefect, and his Council for the intelligent, sympathetic, and honorable way in which they conducted student government at Latin during 1936-37.

THE NEWS

In step with the trend toward "modern journalism," the News Board of 1936-37 has striven to publish a paper which would be, at the same time, interesting, entertaining, and up-to-date. With its goal of making each issue one to be eagerly awaited, the Board adopted several new ideas. Among them was the adding of several new columns, a different format, and the use of as many photographs and cartoons as was feasible. All of these innovations did much to make each of the ten issues pleasing in appearance, and instructive in reading matter.

With its decision at the beginning of the year that quality rather than quantity should be the first prerequisite of a newspaper, the staff reduced the paper to its former four-column width, and barred all advertising, save that pertaining directly to school affairs. Then, they decided that each issue should be centered around some picture, cartoon, or feature story, and built the rest of the publication around it. The "rest" included such features as a movie column, a letter forum, an entertaining article on sports in general, a combined scandal-humor column, and many others.

We feel that the News Boards of the future can, and will, improve upon this year's News. Superior reporting, judicious choice of material, a keen editorial policy, and more and better pictures should turn the trick. But this is in no way a disparagement on the efforts of the Board of 1936-37, because we feel that they have done a really fine job. They have in every way carried on the high standards of excellence set by last year's staff, and have provided next year's with a challenge. It is the meeting of these challenges each year that brings the News nearer and nearer to its goal of perfection.

SIEBEL, HIGHTOWER, DATO, HOLLISTER, Editor, CAUDILL, SEIPP.

THE FOLIO

During this, its thirty-sixth year, the Folio has presented, in four volumes, old and new talent, some of which was good, some poor. We believe we have edited a magazine containing selections representative of the various types of literature, and, at the same time, a publication which has held much enjoyment for both its contributors and readers. Our work is done, and it remains for you, the Student Body, to judge whether or not we have done it well.

In a school such as Latin, where the number of pupils are limited, two difficulties present themselves to the board of a school publication. They are, first: lack of finances, and second: lack of suitable material. In the first case, we feel that we have been exceedingly fortunate this year, for the response to our appeals for ads was most gratifying. But the second difficulty was not so easily disposed of, for, in spite of the Philip W. Seipp Memorial Award offered for the best contribution, the interest which has flourished in the Folio in other years seemed to be lacking this year. Perhaps this apathy was only imagined, but the fact remains that although the Board was smaller than in previous years, the great majority of the material used was written by Board members. This should not be the case. We feel that there is an abundance of literary talent in the School, and see no good reason why it should not be expressed in the Folio.

To borrow the words of another Sigillum, "The Folio at its best is a fine publication; so, at its best, it should be kept." The retiring Board hopes that in the future each boy will take an active and heartfelt interest in the Folio, thereby enabling that publication to soar to new heights of excellence.

GREEN, SIEBEL, DATO, CALLENDER — TATE, Co-Editors, HOLLISTER.

THE SIGILLUM

The time has once again arrived when a Senior Class must leave Latin. And thus, the time has come for us to contribute a pictorial record of countless hours of work and play which we have spent at the school. Such a record we have tried to make this, the 1937 Sigillum.

Following the precedent set by last year's Class of having a small Board, we, too, elected to produce the book with a staff numbering six boys. We feel that this system helps immeasurably to produce a better book, for, even though the individual's work is increased, the collective results are far more pleasing.

Each Sigillum Board is faced with the same fundamental problem: to make the book as original, excellent, and distinctive as possible, and yet to keep within a limited budget. We have done our utmost to solve this problem to your, and our, satisfaction. We have presented a new idea for the introduction page to the various sections; a different placing of the sections has been brought about; more and better pictures have been used, other changes have been affected in an attempt to successfully solve the problem stated above.

In this edition we hope that you will find some of the tradition and spirit of achievement for which the Latin School stands. If you do, we may consider our task well done.

GLEE CLUB

The past year has seen the Glee Club rise to new heights of importance under the expert direction of Mr. James Sample, who, in his first year at Latin, has done an invaluable service in making the school more "music-minded" than it has ever been in the past. The chief work of the organization, and that requiring the most work, was, of course, its production of "Romeo and Juliet", a comic operetta by John S. Brigham. This production was presented twice during the year, the first time in Assembly before the entire school, and the second time before a Fathers' and Sons' Banquet. Both performances were really excellent; the "leads" played their roles to the hilt, and the supporting cast was equally good. The boys who took part in the play are to be doubly congratulated in view of the fact that this was their first experience of the kind.

Just as soon as school got under way in the fall, the Club began its regular weekly meetings, at which several operas and light operas were discussed before the one chosen was decided upon. After this, the parts were assigned by Mr. Sample, and the work of rehearsals was got under way. One of the most encouraging features of these rehearsals was the cheerful spirit shown by the cast. They evinced a real pleasure in the idea, and no coaxing was necessary to keep them "on the job."

But the Glee Club did by no means limit its activities to the production of "Romeo and Juliet". Several piano recitals were given at various assemblies throughout the year by different boys, a Faculty Quartet, composed of Messrs. Bradley, Barnes, Keeler, and Klindera, was organized and later sang before the school, the annual singing contest between the grades in the Lower School was conducted under Mr. Sample's tutelage, and several other projects were planned. Not all of these, it's true, were carried out, but they are definite steps in the right direction. We feel that Mr. Sample has done a grand piece of work this year, and that the accomplishments of the Glee Club under his supervision will stand as a mark for which future Glee Clubs may shoot.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club has not, at the date of this writing, produced a play this year. However there is still a chance, that a play may be produced in Assembly before Commencement time.

Let not, however, the impression be given that the Dramatic Club has done nothing all year. On the contrary, several plays have been read, most notable among which were "High Tor", by Maxwell Anderson, and "Richard the Sixth", by William Shakespeare, both read slowly and critically under the direction of Mr. Darrow. Such a program will do more than anything else, save an actual performance, to prepare the members of the Club to do justice to any play.

Although not all of the plans discussed in last year's Sigillum have materialized, the procuring of new and better scenery has been accomplished, and the lighting effects have been greatly improved upon. We feel it will be only a matter of time before a complete repertoire of stage equipment will be at the disposal of the Dramatic Club.

In closing, we sincerely hope that the Dramatic Club will assume its rightful place, together with the Glee Club, as the leading activity at Latin. We feel that the value of the benefits which may be derived from these two organizations can not be over-emphasized. Any boy who takes part in neither is, we feel, missing a most important side of school life.

DANCE COMMITTEE

The Senior Dance Committee of 1937 has the satisfaction of knowing that they put on one of the finest Senior Dances ever given. Perhaps the chief reason for their success lies in the fact that they profited by the less successful efforts of their predecessors and held the dance at Christmas-time rather than during the Spring holidays. The advantage of the former date may be easily seen when one realizes that the majority of the Eastern schools have their Christmas vacations at approximately the same time as does Latin, whereas their Spring vacations are usually held a good deal later than ours. Thus, a great many more alumni and ex-grads were able to attend this dance than attended the previous Proms.

Another outstanding factor which aided in "putting over" the dance was the excellent orchestra provided. The committee, composed of Dwight Hightower, Chairman, Robert Tate, Laurence Ely, and Sonny Maxwell, really outdid themselves in obtaining the services of Freddie Hankel and his band. This orchestra played many swell rhythms in a consistent flow from ten 'til two so capably and enjoyably that they were applauded roundly at the end of the evening's entertainment. The Casino Club, where the dance was held, was beautifully decorated, and the refreshments which the committee provided were equally enjoyable.

We wish to congratulate the members of the committee for their excellent handling of what was probably the most enjoyable and most fashionable social event ever given by Latin students.

E. RUSSELL BRADLEY

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Though it is true that no coach can build a good team out of poor material, it is equally true that no material, however good it may be, can be of any use without a good coach to mold it into a smooth, coordinative machine. And it has been in this capacity, a molder of teams, that Mr. Bradley has been of such inestimable service to the sports department and also to the whole school. Interested in the development of first the individual, then the team, "Brad" has had an outstanding record as Director of Athletics, among whose duties included the coaching of the basketball and baseball teams, which have enjoyed more than average success down through the years.

But, of far greater importance than "Brad's" actual work has been, we feel, the influence which he has had on all of the boys with whom he has come in contact. In these boys, Mr. Bradley has instilled a love of clean competition, a sense of fair play, and a real pleasure in doing a task well. These qualities are invaluable in making a boy physically, mentally, and morally alert and capable.

"Brad's" consummate knowledge of sports, his ever-youthful interests and viewpoints, his sympathetic, intelligent handling of boys, and his unfailing sense of humor have combined to make him one of the best loved and most respected men ever to enter Latin. It somehow seems impossible to visualize him in any other place save Latin, where his name has become synonymous with all of the ideals and traditions for which the School stands.

FOOTBALL

FOOTBALL SEASON RECORD

Latin	0	Todd	0
Latin	19	Milwaukee Univ. High..	0
Latin	0	Milwaukee Country Day.	33
Latin	12	Parker	12
Latin	0	North Shore	6

RESULTS: One won, two tied, two lost.

Beset by hard luck and injuries, Latin's football team played through a fairly good, though not highly successful season. The final tabulation found two ties, one victory, and two defeats marked upon the team's record. Harvard, an annual rival, did not play due to a rain storm which made conditions impossible for the game.

The loss of the team's two regular tackles after playing the Milwaukee University School, our second game, proved to be the turning point of the season. That contest saw the final services of "Chuck" Ford and Captain Bob Tate.

The opening game found an over-confident Latin eleven held in reserve by a stubborn Todd team. With the exception of one scoring threat by each team the game was a constant dog-fight around mid-field and ended in a scoreless tie. Larry Ely was lost for the season as a result of a sprained ankle obtained in this contest.

The most brilliant game was, of course, against the Milwaukee University School, which we won by the score of 19 to 0. This victory broke the jinx University had held over Latin since the beginning of our football relations with them several years ago. With an effective passing and running attack, balanced by a steady defense, Latin completely outplayed the Wisconsin team.

Discouraged by the loss of several players because of injuries, the team was mauled by a heavy and hard-running Milwaukee Country Day team. The score was 33-0.

The high point of the season for hard luck was reached in the Parker game, which ended in a tie. After running up a 12-0 lead at half-time, Latin saw its lead dwindle because of its inability to cope with Parker's baffling running attack. Then, in the final few minutes, we started a desperate passing attack which carried us to our opponents' 20 yard line, only to have the time-keeper's gun end the struggle.

The final game of the season saw a hard-fighting Latin team hold a much heavier North Shore outfit to a scoreless tie until the last quarter, when Mechem drove over for six points and a victory. We made several threats, once penetrating within the enemy's 20 yard line, but we were unable to push over a score.

Though graduation will take many of the regulars this year, we are confident that Coach Rokusek will do his usual fine job next year with the material on hand.

The heavies, with a good squad "on paper," were unable to organize a smoothly working team until the final games of the season. Composed of Zeigler, Ely, Tate, Hightower, Dato, and Burton as regulars, the heavies accounted for four victories and eight defeats. Hard luck played an important part against Latin throughout the season, especially in the games lost to North Shore and Todd. The chief reasons for the team's inability to work effectively were lack of unity and scoring punch.

Breezing through their games at the beginning of the year, the lights seemed to be headed for an undefeated season. Upon nearing their goal, however, bad breaks and injuries caused them to drop their three final tilts. With Blossom, Crane, Eells, Hollister, and Postell in starting roles, the team clicked off nine straight before losing to Christian. Outstanding in individual scoring was Blossom, who garnered a total of 154 points for the season. The loss of Crane and Postell near the end of the season was, without a doubt, the difference between victory and defeat in the final games.

CAPTAIN FORD

Although this write-up is too early to include the scores and tabulations of the baseball games, the prospects of a good season are very promising. At this writing, Latin has broken even in its first two regular games, defeating Wheaton 21 to 11 and losing to Concordia 10 to 0. In the practice tilts, we took Evanston's second team twice, and lost a single game to Waller.

The regular lineup consists of Ford, first base; Crane, second base; Levy, shortstop; Blossom, third base; Tate, left field; Hollister, center field; Carney, right field; Howell, catcher; and Zeigler and Green, pitchers. Though the team is rather inexperienced as a whole, the season will undoubtedly be successful, for the spirit and attitude of the entire squad is most gratifying. Then, too, Mr. Bradley may be counted upon for his usual excellent handling of the team.

MR. JOHNSON, COACH STEEL L. ELY J. ELY STARCK HURD GRIM CALLENDER

GOLF

It has often been said that "nothing succeeds like success." And that maxim may well be applied to Latin's golf team, for, in its second year, we feel that it is a definite success. Not necessarily a success from the viewpoint of matches won and lost, because this article is dated too early to give any of the actual results of the team's contests. But the success of the team lies in the interest and enthusiasm which has been aroused in it. This year, over a dozen boys announced their intentions of playing golf, and fully three-fourths of this number came out regularly to compete for positions on the team. Thus, the situation which existed last year, that of having just four boys to represent Latin, with no possible substitutes, has been done away with. Before each match, the four low men (low in their practice rounds preceding the match) were chosen to play against the opposing team. It may easily be seen that this method did much to improve the excellence of the team as a whole.

Another innovation this year was the organization of a golf league among the private schools around Chicagoland. This league, consisting of Lake Forest, Harvard, Morgan Park, and Latin, was the result of much work and effort by Mr. Johnson, our coach, and Larry Ely, captain and No. 1 man of the team. The team having the highest standing at the end of the season will be awarded a cup emblematic of the championship of the Private School League of Chicago. Also, at the end of the season, each school will send as many men as it sees fit to play off for the individual championship of the League.

In addition to these new plans, there will, of course, be the annual Latin tournament. Any boy in school is eligible to compete in this tournament, and a large turn-out is assured, for golf is rapidly forging to the front as a most important sport at Latin. We feel that this advance is both desirable and natural, and hope that it will continue in years to come.

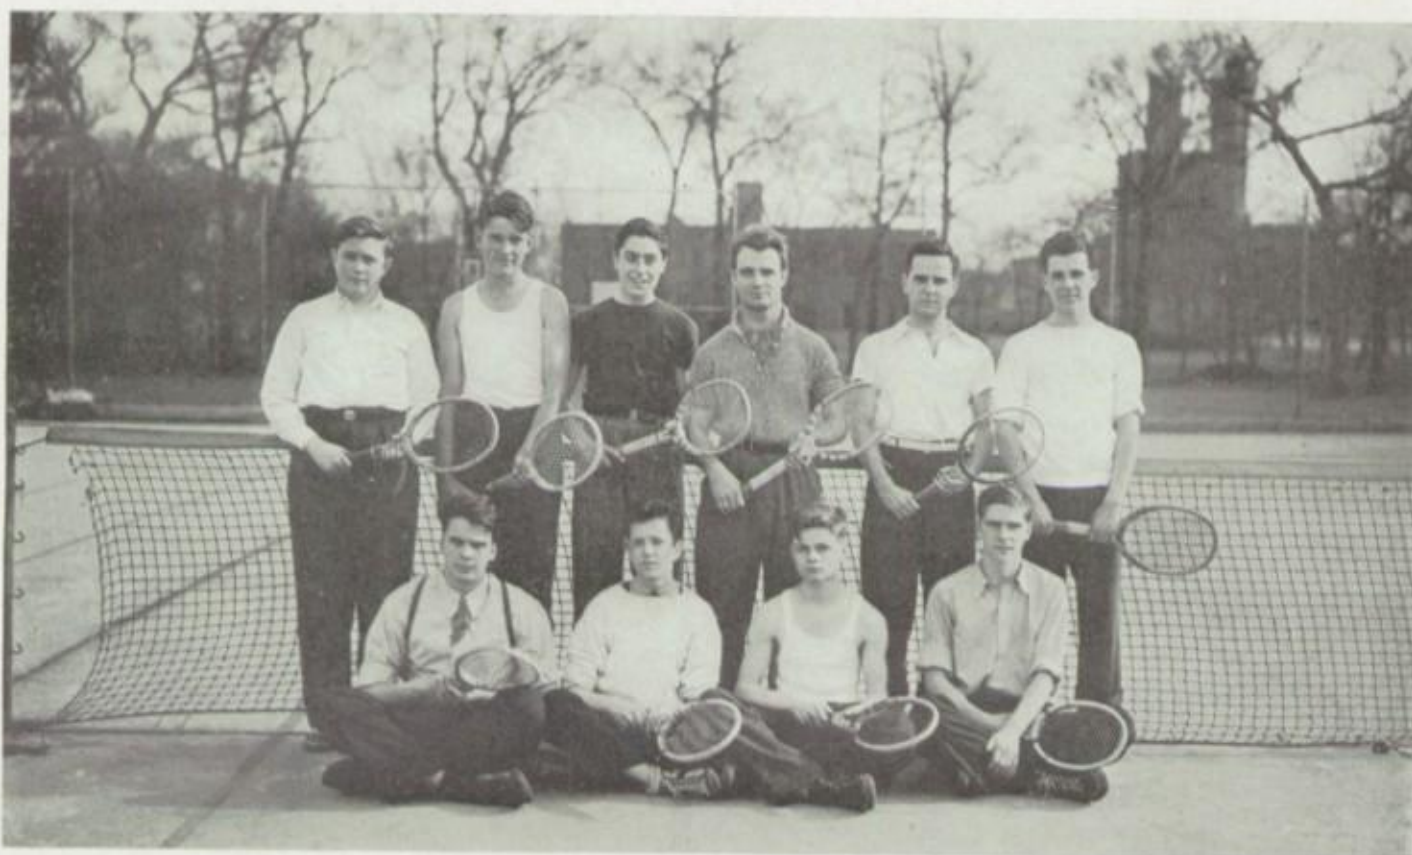

Henry Metz

SQUASH

The year of 1936-37 has brought forth more interest in squash, we feel, than has any other year in the past. This interest may be attributed to several facts, chief of which is doubtless the realization on the part of the student body, that squash is not merely a winter "fill-in" sport, but a game requiring skill, mental alertness, physical fitness, and stamina. This realization was inevitable; more and more boys have been enjoying the excellent squash facilities supplied at Latin, and it was only a matter of time before the majority would become interested in the sport. Then, too the annual squash tournament attracted more entrants this year, and competition was more spirited than usual. After a long list of preliminary matches, Bob Seipp and Jack Siebel managed to reach the finals. In the best three-out-of-five games set, Seipp eked out an excellently played victory, 15-12, 11-15, 15-10, 13-17, 15-11. This match constituted what was perhaps the best exhibition ever put on in the finals of any squash tournament at Latin.

Though Latin has no official squash coach, we are most fortunate in having the services of Henry Metz, who is one of the most capable players we have seen. Henry spends many hours in giving boys tips on how to play the game, instructing them first in its fundamentals then in its finepoints. This first hand instruction has helped innumerable boys to improve their game, and to lay the background for a sport which will stand them in good stead throughout life. Squash is certainly such a sport, for it offers countless opportunities to make contacts later in life which usually prove to be invaluable. The game, once learned, is never forgotten, and, as it is becoming increasingly popular throughout the country, it may be played now in almost any place, under almost any conditions.

TENNIS

This year marked a long step forward in the sports development of the school, for, for the first time, Latin had an active tennis team. This team was the realization of the dreams of many boys who have played tennis at Latin but who, because of a lack of the proper enthusiasm, have never been able to form a team. This year however, interest ran higher than ever before, and, with the combined efforts of Mr. Adams and those boys interested in tennis, a team was organized and a schedule drawn up. Five matches were scheduled: two with Concordia, two with Lake Forest, and a single tilt with University High. Though this writing was at too early a date to list the results of these games, it may be safely said that Latin gave a good account of itself.

The team was chosen from an unusually large turn-out of seventeen boys, each of whom contested hotly for a place. Among those who seemed to be the most consistent devotees were Jack Burton, Ira Frank, Bob Faurot, and Ashie Graham. But the most encouraging aspect of the whole affair was the number of boys out playing for the first or second time. They received invaluable training in self-control and good sportsmanship from their participation in this sport, as well as a keen sense of pleasure and competition.

Latin, with its unexcelled tennis facilities, should be able to produce a team which will rank among the best. This year has seen a most significant step in that direction. May future tennis teams continue along this line!

Have YOU seen the constant fashion show in MARTHA WEATHERED windows . . .
in the DRAKE . . . in her
Misses Shop across the avenue?
Motors SLOW and stop . . .
footsteps SLOW to whispering
. . . to give them time to see the newer, smarter things, time to see the lovelier, braver line and color, gowns and wraps that startle, that make you wistful, that tug at sleeves, that seem to pledge those lovelier hours you always ask of Life . . .
the GOWNS in the WINDOWS of MARTHA WEATHERED.

ON MAINTAINING LEADERSHIP ...

- To win and consistently hold a place as the recognized leader of school annual printing, has been the record of Rogers Printing Company since its beginning in 1908.
- That we have, during a period of 29 years, successfully produced hundreds of annuals for schools throughout the country, attests our ability to satisfy completely the most discriminating Year Book Staff.
- New ideas, coupled with the knowledge and experience gained through a quarter of a century's service, insure the school that chooses a Rogers' printed book of ideal pages "From Start to Finish."
- We are proud that the staff of THE SIGILLIUM entrusted its printing to our organization and we herewith present it as an example of our work.
